The Architect Of Dreams

Verse

I remember an ocean of strange colours
All running into one another, just desperate to feel something
A familiar scene of a place that I had never been Maybe these lives were intertwined
By a web of my own memories

Chorus

They call you. The Architect that weaves
the lives in-between
And they think that you know nothing of what it's like to dream,
or to want to live
And it's so sweet and so deep in the way
that you love your designs
Now they have your mind

Verse

As I walked along this place of haunting mystery
A wave came and swept me away, and held me at the bottom of the sea
There was a bottle with a message I'd seen in another dream
Just constructed words to give an effect that I was actually living

Chorus

They call you. The Architect that weaves,
the lives in-between
And they think that you know nothing of what it's like to dream,
or to want to live
And it's so sweet and so deep in the way
that you love your designs
Now they have your mind

A Memory In Motion

Verse

We went running away
Through the darkness of the night
To a place, where we could come alive
Sitting on the edge of the world
Stare through coloured lights
Like a memory in motion and in our sights

I would follow you there
Like the lion that you are
And you say
That you like it, when I look at you that way
And you say
That you like it, when I look at you that way

Bridge

What I love about her, I just can't say
She uses her charm in a certain way
It's how I think about her, the space she occupies
She makes me feel alright
She makes it all seem alright

Outro

I would follow you there, like the lion that you are
And you say
That you like it, when I look at you that way
I would follow you there, like the lion that you are
And you say
That you like it, when I look at you that way
You say
You like it, when I look at you that way

In The Midst

Verse

I've been spending hours of my days
Watching the time as it's fading away
The paradox remains the same
I held my breath as the sea would rise
Hiding away from times disguise
Distorting the sound of speeding light

Chorus

We were strangers from the start
Wandering here in the midst of it all
As space begins tearing us apart
I wonder
Just who's in control, who's in control

Verse

All of these nights I've been lying awake
Thinking of future situations I've made
And things that I could over complicate
All of the voices hiding under the bed
Battle between what was circumstance
And just what, remains coincidence

Chorus

We were strangers from the start
Wandering here in the midst of it all
As space begins tearing us apart
I wonder
Just who's in control, who's in control

Sometimes I wonder

Midnight

I've been led away, by desert lights
Drifting notions, moving minds
We left the city, as fugitives of time
Chasing echoes, to the waves of the seaside

I soak in the salt, drown in the sea
Sand slips through my hands like electricity
I want to know what it's like
To love,
And what it's like to die
And to live

If you hand me the gun
I'll shoot the sun down
I'll seek where she goes through the night
Just to find
That she's been waiting on the tides
She's been waiting on the tides
To turn
In my direction
For so long
She's been waiting on the tides
She's been waiting
In the midnight

To Sail Across The Sun

Verse

If I could sail across the sun and find what was to become Then I wouldn't have to wait
Come and take me away

And if I knew what there was to find, then how would I spend the life
Would I be satisfied with the time

Chorus

And if all these things could happen to the truth
Would I still be there on the shore sitting next to you
And if I was to stray a little further than the dream
Would you still be there on the shore waiting for me

Verse

If I could sail across the sun, to a land where nobody had gone
Discover things so profound
In the deepness of sound

If I got lost along the way in the echo of the day
Maybe I'd stay in that place so sweet

Chorus

And if all these things could happen to the truth
Would I still be there on the shore sitting next to you
And if I was to stray a little further than the dream
Would you still be there on the shore waiting for me

And if I was to stray a little further than the dream
Would you still be there on the shore waiting for me
And if I had known that I was to be the fool
Would I still be there on the shore sitting next to you
